

Lancaster University

Bailrigg (Lancaster), UK

Lancaster University is located in SW England. The main site of Lancaster University is located at Bailrigg, on the southern outskirts of the city of Lancaster and about three miles from the city centre. The campus is set in 250 acres of landscaped parkland and on a clear day the view extends north to Lakeland Falls and west across Morecambe Bay. Lancaster is five miles inland from the north-west coast, 240 miles from London and 150 miles from Edinburgh. The city is on a direct rail route to London, Edinburgh and Manchester airports. The student body is comprised of 6,500 undergraduates and 1,800 graduate students including 1,150 international students. Lancaster is a major research university with a strong teaching reputation. The Management School is one of the largest in the UK, offering a wide selection of undergraduate courses.

The University is very much a part of the city of Lancaster. The University is one of the major employers of the area and also shares with the local community its cultural and recreational facilities - theatre studio, art gallery, concert hall, multi-denominational Chaplaincy Centre and large and well equipped sports complex. The numerous bars and eating places on campus are open to students and visitors alike.

Undergraduate Texas A&M University students at the junior level, will be permitted to take courses during the regular semesters provided by Lancaster University. You must register for a minimum of 12 credit hours at TAMU per semester of study at Lancaster.
