

John T. Costanzo

President, Purolator USA, Inc.

John T. Costanzo is president of Purolator USA, Inc.

In this role, he is responsible for Purolator's U.S. third party logistics business and for the development and execution of a corporate strategic plan for the U.S. market.

Costanzo has an extensive background in the distribution and logistics industry. Prior to joining Purolator, he served in a variety of roles in the TNT Post Group - a company providing global express, mail and logistics services across the world. He has held positions of increasing levels of responsibility, beginning with senior vice president of the Express Products Division and rising to president of the International Mail Division, Americas Region. John began his career at the Emery Air Freight Corporation, where he worked in a range of positions from district sales manager to senior vice president and general manager.

Costanzo is treasurer of the Express Delivery & Logistics Association (formerly known as the Air Courier Conference of America), and as a member of the Conference Board's Executive Council.
